The Ministry of Time (El ministerio del tiempo)

El Palacio de la Cultura de la Ciencia (1970), which includes the Panorámica 360, is a building that pays homage to a great man of the 20th century: Fermín Lumbreras, the University of Madrid's first rector. It serves as a reminder that the relationships between the different academic areas are closely linked to the development of science and technology.

El Rastro

This flea market is a popular attraction in Madrid. It is known for its lively atmosphere, with a variety of vendors selling antiques, clothing, jewelry, and other items. The market is open every Sunday, and it is considered one of the largest and most popular flea markets in Europe. El Rastro is also known for its street performers and food vendors, making it a vibrant and dynamic place to visit.

Calle de Hércules

Calle de Hércules is a famous street in Madrid, known for its historical architecture and lively atmosphere. It is famous for its diverse range of restaurants, bars, and shops, making it a popular destination for tourists and locals alike. The street is also home to a number of significant buildings, including the Palacio de Hércules, which was once the residence of the Duke of Alba, and the Casa del Infante, which now serves as a museum.

Calle de la Luna

Calle de la Luna is a street located in the heart of Madrid, known for its unique and colorful architecture.
